

Introducing Biatain[®] Silicone Fit

Fit to the body. Fit to the wound.

Fit to the body

It can be difficult to keep foam dressings in place due to body folds, creases, and patient movement.

Biatain® Silicone Fit is flexible for patient comfort. It is easy to use as part of your pressure injury prevention protocol. It can be applied, lifted and reapplied at least 5 times over 3 days.

Can be applied, lifted and reapplied at least 5x over 3 days

Advanced five-layer construction supports adhesion through a carefully designed silicone perforation pattern.

Border design
minimizes rolling edges during application and reapplication.

Twin tips and slits
support flexibility and help the dressing stay in place.

Fit to the wound

Silicone foam dressings that leave dead space between the wound bed and dressing allow for exudate to pool. This may create an environment for bacteria that leads to a risk of infection.

Biatain Silicone Fit matches the shape and depth of the wound bed up to 2 cm, leaving minimal dead space where exudate can pool or leak. It creates a close fit that lowers the risk of infection and maceration.

Matches the shape and depth of the wound bed up to 2 cm

Absorbs exudate vertically

Retains exudate
